Brief Description of Research Project	This project develops a literature library which is intended as a resource for students, researchers and practitioners interested in the area of transportation and health, especially the impact of transportation emissions and air pollution on human health. It currently contains a reference list of over 1000 scientific studies addressing the full-chain of events between transportation pollution sources and health impacts. It tabulates several attributes for each study, including the citation details, the publication type, topic area, and type of study. The literature library is periodically updated to include new studies as they become available.
